The Golden Gate Flyers' 2014 fall hangar party, a fly-in, drive-in event, was held on October 4th at the Oakland Aviation Museum again this year, with some 30 GGF members and guests present...

Everyone in attendance seemed to agree that the Oakland Aviation Museum is a great venue for our hangar party; the large meeting facility includes a nice kitchen, with a new bbq facility this year. All the hotdogs, burgers, salads, deserts and drinks were free, compliments of the Golden Gate Flyers club. And, what more could a bunch of pilots ask for, than to be surrounded by the museum's interesting collection of airplanes.

Since most GGF members are based in or near the Bay Area, we didn't expect many attendees to fly in rather than driving, but there was at least one -- who flew all the way from Hayward! Landmark FBO is located directly across the street from the museum.

Once again, the annual fall hangar party was a fun event, which we plan to repeat next October. In the meantime, we are planning our annual holiday party in December. The December holiday party is similar to the regular monthly dinner meetings, except that the assortment of food is complimentary, in a mingle and visit atmosphere rather than a sit-down dinner.
